Description

AirMore V1.6.5 is a free app for Android that allows users to store, move and stream data from anywhere in the world that they have an internet connection. It's completely free to use and allows users to stream data from their PC to their phone with the minimum of hassle.

What are AirMore's features?

AirMore is primarily a means of accessing data stored on your PC, anywhere you have your mobile device. As with applications such as AirDroid and OneDrive, you have the option to access your files via cloud storage as well as the ability to stream media you have stored on your PC on a mobile device, wherever you are in the world. It also offers a number of added features such as PC messaging, contact storage and a screen reflector that allows you to mimic your android screen on your PC.

Messaging

Among the many features offered by AirMore, the ability to compose and send messages from your PC is one of the most popular. If you are fed up with using the minimal screen space provided by your phone, AirMore allows you to compose messages from your PC. This means you can send a variety of SMS messages without the hassle of using a small touch screen phone.

PROS

Free to use for any android user

Unlimited media streaming from your home PC device

CONS

Limited tech support
