ChoiceStream is a programmatic advertising partner that runs cross-device branding and direct response campaigns for brand and agency clients.

ChoiceStream delivers advertisers the highest quality audiences at scale by directly asking people what they like, what they want, and what they think. The company uses this 1st-party, self-declared data to filter the best prospects from broadly available 3rd-party data. The company delivers high impact digital branding and metrics-driven campaigns for both agencies and brands. ChoiceStream is an innovator in advertising technology, powering campaigns through proprietary, first-party data collected by its owned and operated subsidiary, pollshare.com, and its class-leading programmatic media technology.
