Description

slither.io V1.6 Mobile App Android is an online game that puts you in control of a huge worm that's trying to eat all the colored balls that cross its path. Eating as many balls as possible won't be an easy task. Keep in mind that you're up against other worms that are trying to complete the same mission.

The gameplay and concept for slither.io are very similar to Agar.io and other titles from the same genre, but there is one fundamental difference. In slither.io you'll always get the chance to defeat any of your enemies, regardless of their size or yours. All you have to do is get the other worm to butt heads with your worm's body.

When a worm is defeated, the rest of the worms get to eat it to become bigger. That's why a good strategy is to follow other bigger worms while waiting for someone else to defeat them. That way you can eat them and size up. Yup, just like a vulture!

slither.io is a game that's got a very fun concept and some technical issues. The game is basically silent, as it doesn't have a soundtrack. Plus, the controls aren't nearly as good as they could be.
