Taken (also titled 96 Hours and The Hostage) is a 2008 English-language French action-thriller film directed by Pierre Morel from a story written by Luc Besson and Robert Mark Kamen. It stars Liam Neeson, Maggie Grace, Katie Cassidy, Famke Janssen, Leland Orser and Holly Valance. In the film, Bryan Mills is an ex-CIA officer who sets to track down his teenage daughter Kim and her best friend Amanda after they are kidnapped by Albanian human traffickers while travelling in France during a vacation.

Taken was released in France on 27 February 2008 by EuropaCorp and was internationally released by 20th Century Fox. The film received mixed reviews from critics but was a huge financial success, grossing $226 million, and numerous media outlets cited the film as a turning point in Neeson's career that redefined and transformed him to an action star. It also launched the Taken franchise, and was followed by two sequels Taken 2 (2012) and Taken 3 (2014) as well as a television series that premiered in 2017 on NBC with Clive Standen portraying a younger (and alternate) version of Bryan Mills.

Bryan is protecting a pop singer Sheera as a pvt consultant with friends (Sam & others) & saves her life. She shares her vocal coach & managers numbers with Bryan. Kim wants to go to Paris with friend Amanda & Bryan is skeptical, but signs the consent form when Kim is upset with his refusal. Kim says the trip is an art tour of Paris, but they actually intend to follow U2. Lenore knew but didn't say anything.

At Paris airport airport, they meet young Parisian named Peter (Nicolas Giraud). He wants to share a Taxi. Kim reluctantly agrees. They have Peter take their picture with Kim's phone. Peter drops them off & invites them to a party. Peter makes a quick phone call "Two girls about 18" and the address of the apartment. Kim asks Amanda about the cousins & Amanda says that they are vacationing in Spain.

As Bryan calls Kim, 2 men attack & subdue Amanda in their apartment. Bryan asks Kim to hide under the bed. She tells Bryan about Peter. Bryan tells her that she will be "Taken" but asks her to keep phone on & shout as much description as possible. Following Bryan's instructions, she screams out, "Beard! Six Feet! Tattoo, right hand, moon and star!". The kidnapper takes the phone & Bryan tells him to let Kim go, else he will find & kill them. Kidnapper says good luck.

Bryan calls in Sam & he finds the language from a town in Albania (the voice conversation of kidnappers recorded via Kim's phone). Their leader Marko runs a prostitution biz & Bryan has 4 days to save Kim. Bryan finds Kim's phone in her apartment in Paris & traces Peter through a photo Kim took at airport. Peter runs as Bryan pursues & gets killed. Bryan meets French intelligence Jean-Claude who gives him an address where the Albanian gang operates out of. There he finds Kim's jacket on other girl. He takes her, escaping the Albanians.

Bryan gets there & finds Marko via his particular accent of "Good Luck". He shoots everybody but Marko. Then finds Amanda's dead body in the upstairs rooms. Bryan tortures Marko who says that Kim has been sold to Saint Clair. Bryan enters Jean's house & finds that Jean was in cahoots with the Albanians for the money. Bryan shoots Jean's wife & tortures him to reveal Saint Clair's address.
