SYNOPSIS: A Film by Jay Weidner, produced by Sharron Rose, starring Alexander Polinsky, Adey and Neale Donald Walsch

The Last Avatar is a spiritual adventure film -the story is of a young man who leaves Hollywood to find himself. What he finds is beyond his wildest imagination. Filmed in magical Mt. Shasta and Northern California, his adventure into the heart of the North West wilderness becomes a quest to realize his highest potential. Based on ancient prophecy, contemporary truth seeking and the future of spirituality, The Last Avatar is a film that takes transformational and spiritual themes and makes them exciting for audiences of all ages.

Filled with love, magic, mystery, prophecy, conspiracy, psychics, underground cities, secret societies, light bodies and much more. The Last Avatar tells the story of the discovery and emergence of Kalki Avatar- the final Avatar of our current Age of Chaos. Kalki is also a metaphor for the innate power and potential that lies within humanity to awaken and create a world of truth, harmony and possibility. In the words of Kalki Avatar, "We are becoming conscious of our power to re-make the world."

Written and Directed by Jay Weidner (Director of the Seeking Truth Channel for Gaiamtv), produced by Sharron Rose, the film stars Alexander Polinsky (Saints and Soldiers, Charles in Charge), Adey, Bob Jackson Miner, Monique Trinity Rose, Doug Warner, Sharron Rose (2012 The Odyssey, Timewave 2013) and Neale Donald Walsh (Conversations With God), as the legendary Count St. Germain.
