Whoosh (abbreviation for Saving Time, Optimal Operation, Great System; formerly and also known as the Jakarta–Bandung Express) is the first high-speed train system in Indonesia and Southeast Asia. This train has an operational speed of up to 350 km/h and has a Tegalluar—Halim relationship.

This high-speed train service is operated by PT Kereta Cepat Indonesia China, 60% of which is held by PT Pilar Sinergi BUMN Indonesia, while the rest is held by China Railway International Co. Ltd. via Beijing Yawan HSR Co. Ltd. This service track is the first phase of a series of lines in the high-speed train system in Pulau Jawa.
